

You are invited to the next free IT Quarterly Forum:

Come learn about Social Media in Government

Led by Mr. Jeffrey Levy, Director of Web Communications,
Office of Public Affairs, Environmental Protection Agency

GSA's Office of Technology Strategy and the CIO Council's IT Workforce Committee now host FREE forums featuring government leaders to share expertise and answer questions.

You are invited to the next IT Quarterly Forum for an interactive session on Social Media in Government which will be led by Jeffrey Levy, Director of Web Communications, Office of Public Affairs, EPA.

Topics to include:

- social media and the government: where are we now, where are we going?
- why bother with social media?
- discussion of policy and legal issues and proposed solutions
- hear from people who are leading social media efforts, their successes, and lessons learned
- vision for the future from today's forward thinkers

Come to this IT Quarterly Forum and learn from Mr. Levy and others who are leading the way.

Who's invited? Anyone who is working on, or interested in, federal IT projects (including federal personnel, contractors, vendors and press.)

When? 1:00 pm – 4:00 pm on Wednesday, August 26, 2009

Where? *New Location! Our regular space is being renovated. This forum will be held at GSA's NCR Regional Building at 301 7th Street, SW., WDC. This is right across the street from L'Enfant Plaza Metro Station.

Please register right now at: <http://www.cao.gov/registration/itquarterlyforum/090826/>

Registrants will receive a reply confirming their registration. Take this action today to avoid being turned away because of space limitations. Questions? Send an e-mail to: itquarterlyforum@gsa.gov

connect—network—learn—share knowledge—ask questions—be recognized